Our Kids Our Future

Drug-Free Kids

Drug-Free Kids is a drug prevention program that the Little Harbour Charitable Foundation is developing in conjunction with the Portsmouth Police Department, educators and health-care providers. Our vision is to empower elementary and middle school students in the Seacoast Region to understand the affects of drug use and to develop the courage to remain Drug-Free.

New Hampshire has one of the highest per capita rates of addiction in the country. While programs focused on addiction recovery are established, little emphasis has been given to prevention. As Portsmouth Police Chief David Mara has said, "This is not a problem that can be solved by arrests and treatment alone."

Once considered a problem confined to large urban areas, the abuse of prescription drugs, opioids and heroin has become the number one public health issue across our state. The problem reaches individuals in every age group, gender and income level and often begins among children in elementary and middle schools.

Little Harbour Charitable Foundation

LHCF was established in 2000 as an all-volunteer 501 (c) 3 organization. The mission of the Foundation is to provide grants to support programs and projects that benefit children and youth in New Hampshire's Seacoast area, with emphasis on education, health and the environment.
